

DAMON WILSON

BOOKER

Damon hails from the Central Coast in New South Wales where he discovered his passion for performing at an early age. Upon relocating to Sydney at age seventeen, he dedicated two years to refining his skills at Brent Street's full-time performing arts program. His performance career highlights so far include a role in Season 5 of The Masked Singer as one of the Men in Black, as well as performances at Sydney World Pride, Sydney's Mardi Gras and appearances in prominent advertising campaigns such as Disney's 100th-anniversary celebration. More recently, Damon was a featured dancer for the interactive show, Metaverse of Magic which played in major cities in Australia as well as ending the tour in Ithra, Saudi Arabia.

Damon has always been drawn to other side of the stage and screen, and brings his creativity, along with incredible communication, problem-solving and people skills to the role of Talent Manager at Jeep Management group. Working predominantly with Jeep's Presley division, Damon's passion for the industry, emotional intelligence and innovative leadership style have truly seen him shine as an outstanding manager who nurtures and guides emerging Artists as they begin their journey.
